PROUD TO BE CARLISLE COUNTY OWNED AND OPERATED

Kenneth Jones, Jeremy Ellis and Anita Roach Appear During Busy Court Day

February 17, 2012, was a busy day in Carlisle County Circuit Court, as Carlisle County Circuit Court Judge Tim Langford heard cases regarding an appeal in the Kenneth Jones murder trial, a compensation case against Jeremy Ellis in the December 2007 burning of the Carlisle County Courthouse and the setting of trial dates for Anita Roach in the Carlisle County School Bus accident that claimed the life of six year old Logan Simpson.

In the case against Kenneth Jones, his attorney Jeremy Smith stated that he had just now received all of the information from Mr. Jones' previous attorney in regards to his case and was going to need time to digest the information in order to present a fair case. Judge Timothy Langford set a court date for August 13th through the 15th in that case. A motion was made my Jeremy Smith to also set up a $25,000 property bond for Kenneth Jones so he can be free to meet with him and to set up his defense with him. Smith cited Jones' good behavior during his time of incarceration and his increasing health problems.

Commonwealth Attorney Mike Stacy quickly intervened on Smith's motion and said he was strongly opposed to any sort of bond other than the million dollar bond that is currently instituted. "This man shot and killed a man on his own property and has been proven to be mentally ill. To release him back into the public would pose a threat to the people of Carlisle County," Stacy said. As of press time the million dollar bond is still the only bond that has been issued.

The next case that was on the docket was a compensatory hearing for Jeremy Ellis, the man who was convicted and is currently serving time for the December 2007 burning of the Carlisle County Courthouse.

When hearing arguments from Ellis' public defender, Amanda Branham and Commonwealth attorney Mike Stacy, Judge Tim Langford weighed the issues of what the cost of the old courthouse would be if rebuilt to exact specifications and the cost of the burden to the people of Carlisle County that the new courthouse poses.

Public defender Branham argued that at the time of the courthouse burning there were no plans to build a new courthouse, and that the county was adequately reimbursed for its losses via the money received from insurance claims through KaCo.

Branham also questioned why the new courthouse had to be built so much bigger than the previous courthouse. Richard Mitchell, Project Manager for Codell Construction, testified that the new courthouse had to be built to the exact specifications that the Kentucky AOC sets forth and that if the old courthouse that was built under specifications of 1980, had to be built under the specifications of today such as sprinklers and security setup that the cost of the old courthouse built to today's standards would cost over $3,000,000.

Commonwealth Attorney Mike Stacy argued that it was Ellis who struck the match and made the decision to burn the courthouse. "Jeremy Ellis' decision burdened the people of Carlisle County. There was no central place to conduct county business and have meetings thanks to Jeremy Ellis," Stacy said.

Carlisle County Judge Tim

Kenneth Jones (right) awaits his turn

Langford ruled that he will take the cost of the county's courthouse if it was built today and give Ellis the benefit of insurance money that has been paid and subtract the insurance money from the $3,000,000, which left a sum of $881,568.88 that Jeremy Ellis will be responsible to pay back to the county in compensation for the courthouse fire. "The construction of the new courthouse was not something that the county wanted to do, but it was something that they HAD to do and the decision of Jeremy Ellis to strike that match the morning of December 26, 2007, made the county make that decision," Judge Langford said.

The final high profile case of the day was the Carlisle County bus trial and an appearance by Anita Roach. The hearing began with Anita Roach's attorney filing a motion of change of venue, claiming that there was no way that Mrs. Roach would be able to get a fair trial in Carlisle County. Commonwealth Attorney Mike Stacy said that he already has signed affidavits that state that she would be given a fair trial.

Carlisle County Circuit Court Judge Tim Langford set a March 12, 2012, hearing date for the change of venue decision. He also set a trial date of March 26th to where Roach will be tried on charges of doctor shopping.

The final trial date set was for the week of June 25, 2012, for the school bus wreck trial. That case is expected to take five days.

Gary Owens Appointed Interim Clerk, Democratic Committee to Caucus to Determine Candidate for November

Theresa Owens will step down as Carlisle County Clerk on February 29, 2012 after 30 plus years

By Michael Toon
Carlisle Weekly

During the February 21, 2012, Carlisle County Fiscal Court meeting Carlisle County Clerk Theresa Owens presided over her final Carlisle County Fiscal Court meeting in her 30 plus year career.

Due to her vacating her post as Carlisle County Fiscal Court Clerk mid-term, Carlisle County Judge Executive Greg Terry had to appoint a person to work as interim Carlisle County Clerk until November, when a new Carlisle County Clerk would be decided on the November ballot.

After taking applications and reviewing them Carlisle County Judge Executive Greg Terry appointed Gary Owens as the interim County Clerk. Gary Owens, the husband of retiring County Clerk Theresa Owens, was the right choice according to Terry.

"A Presidential Election is one of the busiest and most important elections on the ballot, with the Clerk being on this ballot and whomever I appointed having to come in during the busiest month of the year, March. I had to pick someone who has had experience in working elections and working during March. Gary has been by Theresa's side during these elections and has helped her in her office numerous times," Terry said.

With the County Judge's appointment, the decision as to who will represent the Carlisle County Democratic Party now lies with the Carlisle County Democratic Executive Committee.

Last Saturday, the Carlisle County Democratic Executive Committee met to lay down the rules and describe how the process will go. On March 10, 2012, the Carlisle County Democratic Executive Committee will caucus at 10:00 a.m. at the Carlisle County Courthouse.

The 17 person committee will then open the floor for nominations. Once nominations have been received, the 17 person committee will then vote on the people who were nominated and the winner of the secret ballot vote will represent the Democratic Party on the November ballot. In the event of a tie breaker, those who are tied will be reset and a re-vote will occur until a final candidate is left standing.

The Carlisle County Republican Party will also caucus and nominate their candidate as well on March 17th.

Per the request of Carlisle County Democratic Committee Chairman Billy Joe Arnold, the list of those 17 candidates is as follows: Billy Joe Arnold (will have no vote due to his position as Chairman), Latreese Arnold, Korie Bowles, Roy W. Davis, Maye Davis, Bill Fraser, Shelia Fraser, Wanda Hoskins, Jerry Jennings, Jeremy Larkins, Jim McPherson, Martha McGee, Jim Moore, Martha Moore, Bill Wade, Lelia Wade and Rozella Young.

The meeting will be a public meeting where the public is able to attend. The nominations will be made publically, but the vote will happen via a secret ballot.

VOLUNTARY DONATIONS TO AG FUND WILL BE SPLIT EVENLY AMONG LOCAL AGENCIES

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Agriculture Commissioner James Comer joined Kentucky 4-H and Kentucky FFA leaders to announce that proceeds from voluntary donations to the Agricultural Program Trust Fund will be divided equally among 4-H, FFA, and Kentucky Proud.

"When Kentucky farmers renew their farm license plates, they can add a voluntary $10 donation that will be split evenly among these three fine organizations," said Commissioner Comer, a former state FFA president. "FFA and 4-H give Kentucky's young people opportunities to participate in constructive activities while they learn the value of hard work and discipline. Kentucky Proud helps Kentucky producers find new markets for their products. All three programs are vital to the future of Kentucky agriculture and Kentucky as a whole."

Some 205,000 youths are involved in Kentucky 4-H programs, and Kentucky ranks in the top 10 in several 4-H enrollment categories nationwide. 4-H is found in every Kentucky county and is a community of more than 6 million young people across America learning leadership, citizenship, and life skills.

Kentucky FFA has about 15,000 members in nearly 140 chapters. FFA is dedicated to making a positive difference in the lives of students by developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth, and career success through agricultural education. It is open to any student ages 12-21 who is enrolled in an agriculture course in a public school.

Kentucky Proud is the official state program for food and farm products that are grown, raised, made or processed in Kentucky. Nearly 3,000 farmers, processors, retailers, restaurants, farmers' markets, school systems, Kentucky state parks, and Kentucky Farm Bureau roadside markets are members of Kentucky Proud.

Could Rate Increases be on the Horizon for the Sanitation Department?

By Michael Toon
Carlisle Weekly

The Carlisle County Sanitation Board met in regular session on February 21, 2012. Amongst the topics of discussion at the monthly meeting were the problems that the cities of Arlington and Bardwell were having paying their bills.

In the sanitation department financial report it was revealed that the problem of not covering bills not only lies within the cities, the problem lies in the sanitation department itself.

A ledger balance of $1,299.25 was showing at the beginning of the meeting, with an added $9,500 coming in as a form of payment from the city of Bardwell, bringing the balance to $10,799.25. The outstanding bills that were to be approved later on in the meeting were $17,255.51. This shows that the sanitation department overall is feeling the crunch, along with the cities.

Carlisle County Judge Executive Terry discussed the options that lie before the sanitation department. Terry said that the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has mandated that the sanitation department increase the size of their reservoir to 750,000 gallons. Terry commented that the sanitation department would not borrow the money for this project, and that the only thing that the sanitation department knows to do is turn it over to the EPA, have their people come down and shut Arlington and Bardwell off. In that event, the EPA would come in and fine the cities of Bardwell and Arlington $10,000 per day. That was an option that the board wanted to avoid and began to discuss options to avoid that.

After discussion the possibility of a rate increase was brought to the forefront.

Bardwell Mayor Philip King said that when the first sewer increase passed, it wasn't enough. As documented in last week's Carlisle Weekly, the City of Bardwell would have to increase their sewer rates some $17.00 per customer to just break even. "There simply isn't any other way around it, our cities and sanitation department are going to have to raise the rates," King said.

Jada Burgess, representative from the City of Arlington, echoed what King said about his auditor's reports. "Our auditors, along with Bardwell auditors, have told us that operating at this loss cannot continue," Burgess said.

The subject of infiltration came up and City of Bardwell Utilities Manager Robin Phelps said that the system in both cities is broken down and despite two phases of sewer rehabilitation, the system is still leaking. "When you have 50 year-old clay tiles there is infiltration everywhere," Phelps said.

Jerry Bowman, Carlisle County Sanitation Plant Manager, said that EPA regulations have also put a strain on the finances of the sanitation department. "Once we spend the money to comply with their standards, the standards change again where more money has to be spent. Add that into the strain that the infrastructure is feeling now with the breaking down of pumps and that is a significant amount of money," Bowman said. Bowman said that pumps that usually have to be replaced every two to five years are now being replaced every other year due to the amount of water the system is pumping and at $17,000 to replace those pumps, that eventually adds up.

It's a problem that many cities and counties are faced with across the area. In Ledbetter, Kentucky, sewer and water customers saw a 30% increase in their bills and that could be a preview of what could be happening in Carlisle County soon or face fines and further regulations from the EPA.

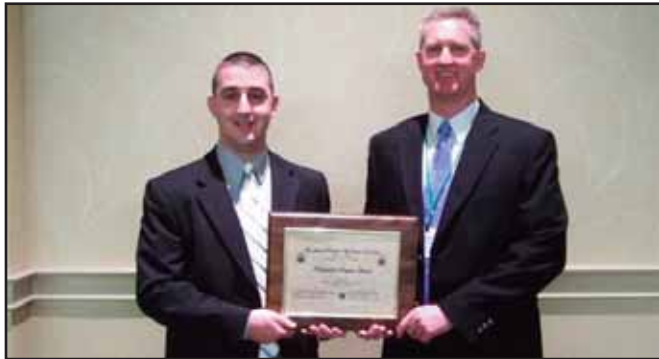

Bardwell Mayor Philip King said that for years Carlisle County officials have done what they can to keep taxes and rates low and now those rates are 50 years behind schedule and people living in 2012 are now paying for those low rates that were enforced and not increased steadily throughout the years.

Jerry Bowman echoed those sentiments and added that the growth of Carlisle County or any county depends on the health of its infrastructure and the money that goes into it to maintain it. "The growth of Carlisle County depends on its infrastructure and if we want to continue growth, the growth comes at a price," Bowman said.

USDA INVITES MINORITY PRODUCERS TO JOIN USDA MINORITY FARM REGISTER

Bardwell, KY, February 15, 2012 – The U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Farm Service Agency (FSA) invites minority farmers and ranchers in Carlisle County and across the nation to voluntarily join the USDA Minority Farm Register to receive information and opportunities from USDA agencies.
"The new Minority Farm Register is an outreach tool to reach underserved farmers and ranchers who are not currently enrolled in USDA loan, farm or conservation programs," said Melissa Myers, Carlisle County FSA county executive director. "The Register is a shared outreach list that will help USDA, community-based organizations and minority-serving educational institutions to communicate with minority farmers and ranchers."
By joining the Register, minority producers may receive outreach materials, newsletters, and program announcements from USDA agencies. They may also receive information and assistance from other USDA-approved outreach partners, such as community-based organizations, faith-based organizations, and minority-serving educational institutions. USDA will carefully control access to and use of the Register.
Individuals wishing to join the Register must sign and date a form that provides their name and address. Providing phone numbers, e-mail address, race, ethnicity, gender and farm or ranch location will be voluntary, although the additional information increases the producer's opportunities for receiving timely assistance.
The Register pamphlet with the registration form is available at the Carlisle County USDA Service Center or from approved USDA outreach partners. Completed forms may be mailed to: USDA Minority Farm Register, USDA Stop Code 0503, 1400 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, DC 20250. FSA and USDA's Office of Advocacy and Outreach are jointly administering the Register. Registration forms are available in Spanish (AD-2035SP) and English (AD-2035) on the FSA web site (www.fsa.usda.gov) under "Forms".
An individual may remove his or her name from the Register by writing to the Minority Farm Register, USDA Stop Code 0503, 1400 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, DC 20250. From Father’s Heart To Yours By Ralph and Pamela Hale

The Three “R’s” Part 2

In our last teaching we spoke of the first “R” being the need of repentance. Not just some but all, for all have sinned and come short of the glory of God. Romans 3:23

After or should I say when true repentance takes place this marvelous thing called “Reconciliation” takes place. It is important to understand that reconciliation with God takes place instantly upon repentance. With people it may take some time to manifest but full reconciliation has taken place for us through Jesus Christ.

Let me explain. Reconcile means to restore to full friendship and favor after estrangement, “to harmonize.” We have all been separated from God by sin that all of us were born with. Before repentance we cannot walk with, talk with, or harmonize with God. But after repentance we can! Many people think that after repentance and acceptance of Christ as our personal Savior and Lord of our life, reconciliation to God takes a long time of proving ourselves worthy or some other nonsense. But the truth is we are instantly reconciled to God when we accept Jesus Christ as our only Savior. In fact we were reconciled to god before we repented only we didn’t know it, nor could we benefit from it because we had not been told. This is the “good news”, “the gospel.” Take note of these scriptures: And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to Himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation; to wit that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto Him, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation. Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ’s stead, be ye reconciled to God. For He hath made Him to be sin for us, who knew no sin: that we might be made the righteousness of God in Him. II Cor. 5:18-21

Imagine if you will that someone you don’t know has put $1,000,000.00 in your bank account, but you don’t know it’s there. The money is there but you can’t use it because you don’t know you have it. Say you went several years without knowing about the money. The money was yours all those years but you didn’t enjoy it, couldn’t use it, there was no benefit to you simply because you didn’t know it. Let’s say then that you are told about the money, but you decide not to accept it. You said, I don’t want this free gift. The money is still there, it’s still in your name, but you choose to live the rest of your life without using or benefiting from that money.

That’s the way God’s salvation is to us. We tell folks about it, we’re the ambassadors, having the ministry of reconciliation. It’s already yours; you just need to accept it. The instant you accept the good news you instantly begin to draw from that account. You immediately are in favor with God, instantly enjoying a friendship God has desired and provided for long ago. In this friendship we can begin to harmonize with God, enjoying the deposit that’s been made in our individual names long before we ever knew about it.

You are reconciled to God through Jesus Christ, go ahead, and draw out of the account with joy! Two “R’s” are past, one remains.

ONE PRESSON’S VIEW

By Kay Presson

Recently, I saw on the news about a father in North Carolina who shot his 15-year old daughter’s laptop computer, allegedly because she had made some very complimentary remarks on Facebook about having to do chores and not getting paid. Folks, here is my opinion...I think the daughter was being a "whiner," for not getting paid for doing chores, and I think the Dad was very wrong in ruining a perfectly good computer. Hmm, who bought the computer for the girl? And, why didn't her parents just take the computer away from her? Also, that girl apparently doesn't realize what child abuse actually is! My five siblings and I grew up with an alcoholic father who physically and emotionally abused us and our Mother. Many times, Mama would get between Daddy and the kid he was beating, and she would take the blows. Mama, to us, was a heroine...Daddy was a bully.

This week's inspiration

This week's inspiration from the sermon titled “Mountain Top Experience” and scripture verses Mark 9:2-9: These scripture verses are about the transfiguration of Jesus. The experience for Peter, James and John was a mountain top experience especially when they saw Moses and Elijah there also. Peter even suggested that they erect three shrines because he wanted it to last forever. Nine of the twelve disciples did not experience Jesus’ transfiguration. Mountain top experiences are fleeting and we must cherish the gifts of such. They can’t be frozen in time to last forever. This event forever changed the lives of Peter, James and John. Life is full of turning points. We don’t need much more than a moment to change us forever. Much of life is lived in the valley instead of on the mountain top. We must patiently wait for the mountain top experiences. They are like dessert in that if this were all we were fed, we would be spiritually undernourished.

Should the bids not be sufficient, the Master Commissioner shall then open bidding for Parcel 5 and sell the parcel. Said property shall be sold subject to all existing restrictions, utility easements, and rights-of-way now of record; any matters which would be disclosed by an accurate survey or inspection of the property; any current assessments for public improvements levied against the property; and to any right of redemption which may exist.
The property shall be sold for cash or on a credit of thirty days, with the privilege of the purchaser or purchasers to pay purchase money at anytime before maturity. If sold on credit, the purchaser or purchasers shall pay ten percent (10%) of the purchase price in cash on the day of sale and shall execute a sale bond for the remainder of the purchase price secured by a letter of credit from a financial institution and bearing twelve percent (12%) interest per annum from the date of purchase until paid and fully due and payable in thirty days. All delinquent taxes shall be ascertained and paid and the property shall be sold free and clear of any liens of the parties herein. The purchaser or purchasers shall be required to pay all property taxes against the property for 2012 and all subsequent years.
Should any purchaser default, their deposit shall be applied to any expenses that result from said default. Fiscal Court Approves Resolution For Uncompensated USEC Workers

By Michael Toon
Carlisle Weekly

The Carlisle County Fiscal Court met in regular session on February 21, 2012. The meeting began with the ambulance report by Carlisle County Ambulance Service Director Wayne Floyd.

Floyd reported that everything was running smoothly with the ambulance service and things were busy. Floyd next reported that issues with receiving Medicare money were fixed and the county is receiving money that was previously backed up in the system.

Carlisle County Judge Executive Greg Terry next reported that he and the magistrates met with the state's Coroner's Association and addressed the issue regarding the closing of the Madisonville offices. Terry said that the closing of the Madisonville office would mean double costs for the county when an autopsy had to be conducted. Currently those costs are $600, but when taking a body to Louisville it would be $1,200, plus the money for hotel and other expenses.

In the DES/Solid Waste report, Director Missy Rowland reported that the annual report was awaiting some final figures and would be ready soon. Rowland also reported that she attended a meeting in Hopkinsville concerning the county's five year plan and noticed significant progress in the county's DES plan in the last five years.

Rowland concluded her report by discussing the FEMA bridge project on County Road 1037. Initially FEMA approved a work order for a 42 foot bridge to go over the creek in that area. However, after environmental testing was conducted it was found out that a 68 foot bridge was needed to satisfy the needs of the area. The county is awaiting and having issues on the paperwork for the job to be done properly. If the paperwork is not done in time it could end up costing the county money.

In the Carlisle County Jailer's Report, Ronny Owens reported that there were three inmates in the Ballard County Jail and two inmates in the Hickman County Correctional Facility.

In the road report Carlisle County Road Supervisor Jerry Bowman reported that the weather has been an issue lately, as saturated grounds have been an issue. Bowman also reported that he spoke with the Army Corp of Engineers about the bridge near Fish Lake. Currently water is standing on the bridge with nowhere to go due to the sand infiltration. The Corp of Engineers will meet with he and county officials soon to look at the problem and what can be done.

In the 911 Report, 911 Director Josh Glover reported that the communications tower will be up and running and fully functional by the end of the week, which is a relief, not only to himself but the county officials as well. "There have been instances where law enforcement or EMS officials have went into a place where communications went down due to lack of radio service and when responding to an emergency, sometimes that is the responder's only lifeline," Glover said. Judge Executive Terry echoed that sentiment and was pleased with the news. "It cost the county money out of our ambulance and general fund, but when it comes to the safety of our first responders, the cost it worth every penny," Terry said.

In the final bit of business before adjourning, Gary Vander Boegh of Commonwealth Environmental Services was on hand along with his wife, Nelson Todd and Helen Featherstone. Mr. Vander Boegh has experience in the field of nuclear power workers and works as an advocate for those people, assisting in claims where the people who filed for those claims met all requirements for compensation, but were not compensated.

In his research there would be 50 people who were eligible for compensation and five were awarded so they could say they awarded applicants money. "We are seeing cases like Nelson

Todd where he is representing his father and Mrs. Featherstone who is representing her husband, who met the criteria for compensation and were bogged down by technicalities and rejected their claims unfairly. We are fighting to get those who have been poisoned by beryllium or by uranium the compensation they deserve," Vander Boegh said.

Nelson Todd told the fiscal court that he has been fighting for his father for five years and there was so much terminology that you can't understand what is going on. "My father had COPD, Bronchitis and Parkinson's and others were being compensated that had those same symptoms," Todd said.

Vander Boegh was on hand to received a signed resolution by the Carlisle County Fiscal Court to stand up and tell elected officials that the people of not only Carlisle County, but the people who have been affected by these claims being denied despite meeting requirements, that they are being treated unfairly and deserve better.

If you have any questions about this or feel you fit in that category, you may contact Gary Vander Boegh at 270-450-0850 or visit his website online at www.commonwealthenvironmentalservices.com.

INDEPENDENT AUDITOR'S REPORT

To the City of Arlington
Honorable Bobby McGee, Mayor
Members of the City of Arlington Council

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of the governmental activities, the business-type activities, the aggregate discretely presented component unit, each major fund, and the aggregate remaining fund information of the City of Arlington, Kentucky, as of and for the year ended June 30, 2011, which collectively comprise the City's basic financial statements, as listed in the table of contents. These financial statements are the responsibility of the City of Arlington, Kentucky's management. Our responsibility is to express opinions on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion. In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the respective financial position of the governmental activities, the business-type activities, the aggregate discretely presented component unit, each major fund, and the aggregate remaining fund information of the City of Arlington, Kentucky, as of June 30, 2011, and the respective changes in financial position and cash flows, where applicable, thereof for the year then ended in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

The City has not presented the Management's Discussion and Analysis that the Governmental Accounting Standards Board (GASB) has determined is necessary supplementary information, although not required to be part of, the basic financial statements. The budgetary comparison information is not a required part of the basic financial statements but is supplementary information required by the Governmental Accounting Standards Board. We have applied certain limited procedures, which consisted principally of inquiries of management regarding the methods of measurement and presentation of the budgetary comparison information. However, we did not audit the information and express no opinion on it.

Our audit was conducted for the purpose of forming opinions on the financial statements that collectively comprise the City of Arlington, Kentucky's basic financial statements. The accompanying supplementary information, combining fund financial statements, are presented for additional analysis and are not a required part of the basic financial statements.

In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our report dated January 10, 2012 on our consideration of the City of Arlington, Kentucky's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts, and grant agreements and other matters. The purpose of that report is to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over financial reporting and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the internal control over financial reporting or on compliance. That report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards and should be considered in assessing the results of our audit.

During the year, the City implemented GASB Statement No. 54, Fund Balance Reporting and Governmental Fund-type Definitions, as discussed in Note A. As a result of this required fund balance, classifications in the governmental fund financial statements have been changed to reflect the five new classifications under GASB Statement No. 54.

Respectfully submitted,
